

SCHOOL MATTERS

FROM THE HEADMASTER'S OFFICE

Whether your glass is half full or half empty, hope can fill it up.

Matshona Dhlwayo

First of all, I hope every teacher, parent and learner embraces the fickle weather of the last week. My wish for all of you is to see in every ray of sunshine, lightning strike and drop of rain the wonder of creation and the privilege of being able to experience it. May we all have a half-full glass outlook on life. Don't let dark clouds, threats and setbacks fill your glass – rather fill it with hope. Be positive about your life, your loved ones, and our beloved country.

At Midstream College, we strive to create a balanced and holistic teaching and learning environment. We offer opportunities for learners to learn, experiment and perform academically, on the sporting front, culturally and socially. Thank you to everyone who has embraced the year so far with a carpe diem mindset. Our annual inter-high athletics next Friday is a such an event; I hope to see as many learners as possible on the track, in the field and in the stands. Midstream POWER!

Learners have had many opportunities to express themselves and to learn on the sport fields so far this year. Our cricket teams have performed brilliantly, and our first team will play in a promotion-relegation match against Rustenburg on Saturday after we have won our division of the Finsbury Series. Make us proud! Our first boys' tennis team recently had their best performance up to date in the Big 5 Tournament at Hoërskool Nelspruit. Enjoy the winter sports pre-season that is in full swing.

Furthermore, good luck to every swimmer and athlete who will participate in their respective A-league inter-high competitions next Tuesday and Friday, respectively. The swimmers are going to defend their title, and the athletes will be fighting for survival in the A-league amid a slew of injuries. Regardless of the outcome, I know that every swimmer and athlete is going to give their best and we cannot ask for more. Success comes to those who dare and persevere – go out, enjoy and make it happen.
